CLASSIFIED ADS

FOR SALE

For Sale: 2 wheel Car Trailer. Mrs. A. B. Abbitt, or call 352-6843. Rt. 3.

For Sale: Green Round Oak Heater Wood. Good loads. Reasonable price. Jesse Jr. Franklin, Evergreen, Va. (-11tp)

FOR SALE: 34 good, bred Hereford heifers; 50 Angus cows to calf in January. Priced to sell. W. S. Hundley, Boydton, Va. (10-26-3tc)

For Sale: 1 Homelite 7-19 Power Chain Saw; 1 5-piece Dinette Set; 1 6-piece Living Room Suite; 1 black and Decker Sander. —Mrs. and Mrs. James A. Lewis. Call 352-6826 after 7 P. M. (1tc)

For Sale: One innerspring mattress and springs to match, 3-4 size. D. E. Caldwell, Appomattox, Va. (1tp)

FOR RENT

For Rent: Six room house with bath, water, lights; kitchen wired for electric stove. Some repair work being done and electic hot water heater put in. Be vacant by Nov. 1. If interested see: Mrs. Ned Burge. Reasonable rent, Appomattox, Va., 1 mile from Oakville school. (10-26-2tp) Route 3.

Apartment For Rent: Second floor, four rooms, private bath, furnace heat, wired for electric stove. Convenient location. Adults only; no pets. Wiley M. Morris, (10-5-tfc) Phone 352-2261.

For Rent: House, 3 bed rooms, hot and cold water floor furnace Sunnyside Ave., Appomattox, Va. Contact: F. H. Carwile, Pamplin, Va. Phone 248-4265. (10-19-tfc)

WE CARRY a complete line of building material for all occasions, repairs, and remodeling. If in need of same secure our price before making purchase elsewhere. Prompt service assured.

H. E. DEWITT CO.
1126 Commerce Street
Lynchburg, Virginia
Telephone VI 8-4501
10-5-61 tfn

PUBLIC NOTICE

All interested persons are advised that the reconstruction of Route 460 from 0.013 Miles West of Intersection Route 24 at Appomattox to 2.330 Miles East of the Norfolk and Western Railway Underpass at Concord in Appomattox County is being considered by the State Highway Commission.

Information concerning the tentative plans for the reconstruction of this route is available at the office of the District Engineer of the State Highway Department at Lynchburg, Virginia, and at the office of the Resident Engineer of the State Highway Department at Appomattox, Virginia. Any interested citizens from the communities affected by this route may request that a public hearing be held by sending a written notice to the District Engineer, State Highway Department, Lynchburg, Virginia, on or before November 29, 1961. In the event such request is received, a further notice of the time and the place of the hearing will be published.

State Highway
Commission of Virginia.
October 13, 1961.
(10-19-2tc)

NOTICE TO PUBLIC:

The undersigned, George Abbitt, Jr., has been appointed and qualified as executor of the estate of Dr. L. L. Gay. All persons owing or having claims against the estate please see the executor.

George Abbitt, Jr. Exector
Executor, Appomattox, Va.
(10-19-2tc)

Help Wanted

Man Wanted: Good opening. Sell Rawleigh Products. Year around, steady work, good profits. In Appomatox County. Write Rawleigh's Dept. VAJ-50-137, Richmond, Va. (10-5-4tc)

NO WATER — NO PAY
MOORE WELL BORING
AND DRILLING CO.

Septic Tanks Installed
Nothing Down — 3 Years To Pay
We do not use plastic casing, as we cannot drive it and find that it will break and burst when we drive it.
We are still using galvanized casing

NOTICE

Merchants and Businesses of all types are welcome as Refund Merchants. There are thousands of Refund members in Appomattox County. For free information, without obligation, please drop a line to Refund, Inc., Box 1414, Charlottesville, Va. (10-26-2tc)

WAIT — WAIT — WAIT
Don't buy that Anti-Freeze, oil change, grease job, or gas for your car, before attending the big Hallowe'en Program at the Appomattox Elementary School on Hallowe'en Night, October 31. Over 30 nice and useful prizes for both adults and youngsters will be awarded. Enjoy an evening of fun and frolic while supporting your local PTA. (11tp)

SEE US FOR JET - SHEET
Appomattox Hdwe. Co.
(10-12-4tc)

Help Wanted - Male & Female
A dealership is Nationally Advertised Products available in Appomattox and West Charlotte Counties. Good Income and high earnings potential. Permanent. Thorough training provided. Car required. Age no barrier. Male or Female. Write today for personal interview G.R.C., P.O. Box 50-11, Richmond, Virginia.
mond, Virginia.
(10-7-5tp)

IF YOU like people, enjoy making friends and want to earn money, contact your Avon Manager. Openings in your neighborhood. Call or write now. Lynchburg, Victor 66979 or P. O. Box 2127 for appointment. (9-21-6tc)

GET THE BEST
GET FALWELL
Drilled Water Wells
Pump Installation and Service. If you have red water that is staining and ruining your fixtures, give us a call. We have filters and softeners of all kinds.
Falwell Well Corporation
P. O. Box 237 Lynchburg, Va.
VI 6-2739. (9-28-tfc)

DODGE
SIMCA
TRIUMPH
WHITE TRUCKS
Dependable Hughes Cars
FINANCING
License 5 Dial 5-4511

John P. Hughes Motor Co. Inc.
406 Commerce St Used Cars
Our Warehouse 13th & Commerce
Lynchburg, Va.

In the Circuit Court of Appomattox County.
Edna M. Crelia Plaintiff vs
Virginia R. Lawson & others Defendants

To —Edna M. Crelia, Virginia R. Lawson, Dutch J. Leffel, Kermit R. Hall, Eldridge L. Hall, Claudine Chasmicki, Virginia Pirkal, Louise Doobyns, Estercleen Blankship Helen L. Parker, William E. Leffel, Verna R. Akers, Malcolm L. Leffel, Donald L. Leffel, David W. Leffel, Kathleen Helm Fields, Bud Herman Rogers, Sherman Edward Rogers, Plaintiff and Defendants in the above styled suit.

You and each of you are hereby notified that I have fixed upon Saturday, the 4th day of November at 10:00 A. M. as the time and the Court Room of Appomattox County as the place for taking the account ordered by decree of said Court in the above styled suit on the 14th day of September, 1961 as followers, to-wit:

1. Who are the owners of the real estate described in the bill of Camplaint filed in this Cause which real estate was owned by Claude Leffel, at the time of his death, which real estate is described fully in said Bill of Complaint which parcel of land contains approximately 299 acres, more or less

2. What liens are against the property, their priorities, and by whom held.

3. What is the fee simple and annual value of the real property

4. Whether the real property is susceptible of partition in kind amongst the owners in any of the modes prescribed by law; and if not . . .

5. Whether any of the owners is willing to take the whole property and pay to the others such sum of money as their interests may entitle them to; and if not . . .

6. Whether the interest of those who are entitled to the subject o its proceeds will be promoted by a sale of the entire subject and division of the proceeds; and if not,

7. Whether the proper parties are before the Court in this Cause to enable the Court to effect a sale.

8. Whether or not the property should be sold at private sale or public auction.

9. Any other matter especially stated, which the Commissioner may deem pertinent or which any party may request to be so stated

Given under my hand this 13th day of October, 1961.

C. W. Smith,
Comr. in Chancery.

CUSHIONED WORK SHOE
WITH OIL-RESIST SOLE

A new experience in work-shoe comfort! The cookie-cushion insole lets you walk all day on a plump layer of airspun foam. This neoprene oil-resistant sole gives protection, prevents slippage: good-looking, too. Smooth, tough elk-finished upper leather. Steel shank. All sizes and widths.

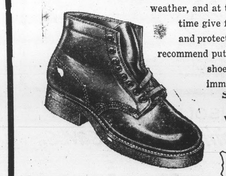
STAR BRAND WORK SHOES

PRICE 9.95

This Is The Shoe That Wants To WORK HARD For YOU!

It's rugged, able to take all kinds of weather, and at the same time give foot ease and protection. We recommend putting this shoe to work immediately!

SIZE 6 TO 12
WIDTH C TO EE



LEATHER SOLES ARE BETTER SOLES!

PRICE 8.99

STAR BRAND WORK SHOES

Marshall's DEPT. STORE

NOTICE
GET THE BEST
GET FALWELL

We will save you money.
Drilled water wells, Pumps, Installation and Service.
The best does not cost; It pays.
Largest Well Drillers in Central Virginia.

FALWELL WELL CORP.
P. O. Box 967 Dial VI 6-2738
Lynchburg, Virginia

To clean carpets better we'll loan a Blue Lustre Carpet Shampooer FREE with purchase of Blue Lustre shampoo. —Poe Hdwe.

IF YOU NEED Plumbing Supplies secure our price before buying. KOHLER and ELJER fixtures. Wholesale only. LYNCHBURG PLUMBING & SUPPLY CO., INC. 1215 Commerce St., Lynchburg, Va. Phone: VICTOR 5-0541 (5-4-tfc)

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Pursuant to authority vested in the undersigned Trustee by virtue of that certain Deed of Trust dated June 22, 1960, executed by Albert Franklin and Mrs. Ethel B. Franklin, of record on August 25, 1960, in the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Appomattox County, Va., in D. B. 72, at Page 394 that whereas, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness therein secured, and in conformity therewith, the following real estate will be offered for sale in compliance with the terms and conditions of the above mentioned instrument.

DESCRIPTION:

All of that certain tract and parcel of land situated in Southside Magisterial District of Appomattox County, Virginia, and lying between and in the intersection of the Old Red House Road and the Spring Mill Road about three miles Southwest of the Town of Appomattox and being that identical property that was deeded unto Irvin Hudson by deed, dated October 31, 1953, from Lena Arrington Sterns and W. H. Sterns her husband, of record in D. B. 59, at Page 360, adjoined by the property now or formerly owned by W. R. Arrington, Mrs. Adelia C. Ferguson, Walker Franklin, Russell Woodson and Major Richardson. It being that real estate that is shown on a plat of survey thereof, along with other real estate, made by W. A. Moses, dated October 22, 1942, and being the part that is shown thereon that is situated on the Southwest side of the "Red House Road" adjoined on the North and West by the said Spring Mill Road, said plat being of record in said Clerk's Office in D. B. 50, at Page 116, and being all of the land deeded unto the late Mrs. Mary Louise Franklin in the name of Mrs. J. W. Franklin EXECEPT, HOWEVER, the tract of land deeded unto Burke H. Franklin and wife, by deed dated December 4, 1959, of record in said Clerk's Office.

It is that identical real estate that was deeded unto the said Albert and Ethel B. Franklin, by deed dated, June 22nd., 1960, from George Abbitt Jr., Special Commissioner, of record on August 25th., 1960, in D. B. 72, at Page 392.

The purchaser shall have immediate possession. Current Taxes and Insurance to be pro-rated as of the date of sale.

Place of Sale: On The Premises;
Time of Sale: 10:00 A. M. Saturday, November 18th., 1961;
Terms of Sale: Cash;
Auctioneer: J. H. O'Brien;
Trustee Wm. W. Burke.
(10-19-2tc)

REMEMBER
GOOD MARKS
REQUIRE
GOOD VISION
How Long Has It
Been Since Your
Children's Eyes
Were Examined?
For Complete
Eye Care
Consult Your EYE PHYSICIAN
Then See You
GUILD OPTICIAN

GUILD OPTICIANS

A. G. Jefferson
Registered Opticians
Ground Floor
Allied Arts Bldg.
Lynchburg, Va.

NOTICE
GET THE BEST
GET FALWELL

We will save you money.
Drilled water wells, Pumps, Installation and Service.
The best does net cost; It pays.
Largest Well Drillers in Central Virginia.

FALWELL WELL CORP.
P. O. Box 967 Dial VI 6-2738
Lynchburg, Virginia

To clean carpets better we'll loan a Blue Lustre Carpet Shampooer FREE with purchase of Blue Lustre shampoo. —Poe Hdwe.

IF YOU NEED Plumbing Supplies secure our price before buying. KOHLER and ELJER fixtures. Wholesale only. LYNCHBURG PLUMBING & SUPPLY CO., INC. 1215 Commerce St., Lynchburg, Va. Phone: VICTOR 5-0541 (5-4-tfc)

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my friends relatives and neighbors for visits, cards, and gifts while in the hospital and since my return home.

O. R. Turnes

CARD OF THANKS:

We wish to express our appreciation to our friends and neighbors for every act of kindness and expression of sympathy at the death of my father, Mr. J. R. Kidd. Also for the floral arrangements.

Mr. Stuart Kidd and family, (11tp)

IN MEMORIAM

JORDAN: In loving memory of my husband, and our Step-Father, Rev. N. R. Jordan, who departed this life, October 12, 1958.
Sorry we ever had to part,
It left a sad feeling in my heart.
The only consolation is to know,
That we will meet on that celestial shore,

Wife and Step-Children.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of our dear husband and daddy, Clifton E. Franklin, who passed away two years ago today, Oct. 22, 1959.
Time speeds on, two years have passed,
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast.

We miss you more as time goes on,
We cannot, Lord, Thy purpose see,
All is well that is done by thee.
Often to your grave we wander,
Place some flowers with loving hands there,
We feel you are near us, as we sadly linger there.
A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is still;
A place is vacant in our home,
That never can be filled.
—Sadly missed by Wife and Children (11tp)

Help Wanted: Waitresses. Also kitchen help. Apply: Parkway Restaurant. (11tc)

NOTICE: Announcing Mrs. Walter W. Scott, Representative for Luther LeGrand, Florist. Flowers for all occasions.
Call Appomattox 352-7493
(1-5-tfc)

We are now paying highest prices for all grades scrap iron, metals of all descriptions. Secure our prices before selling.
LYNCHBURG IRON & METAL CO.
PARK AVE. & KEMPER ST.
LYNCHBURG, VA.
Tele.- VICTOR 7-4401.
(3-9-tfc)

USED OK TRUCKS

SEE-SMOOTH RIDE CHEVROLET

1960 Chevrolet 2 Dr. Biscayne V-8 [illegible] one owner, extra clean Gray.

1958 Chev. Impala 2 Dr. hardtop, [illegible] powerglide, white sidewall tires, extra [illegible] owner, Autumn Gold

1959 Chevrolet Convertible Coupe - [illegible] glide, radio, heater, power steering, [illegible] customized

1955 Mercury 4 Dr., blue/white, [illegible] automatic drive

1954 Chevrolet 4 Dr, 210 series, one [illegible] clean

1953 Ford V-8 overdrive, radio, heater

1954 Ford V-8 4 Dr., radio, heater [illegible]

TRUCKS

1959 Chevrolet 2 ton 2 speed, one [illegible] clean 4 new tires on rear

1956 Chevrolet 2 ton 2 speed, flat [illegible] cellent tires, clean truck

1952 Chevrolet 2 ton 2 speed flat [illegible] truck

1955 Chevrolet ½ ton pick up, [illegible] extra clean

1956 GMC 2 ton 2 speed long [illegible] clean

Moses Motor C

Fall Be

MUMS .10
ROSES .10
ORCHID .10
AZALEA .15
DAHLIA .10
ASST. FOLIAG
HOLLY SPRA
HOLLY WRE
POINSETTIA
HOLLY BOPS

Marsha
APPOMATTO

Senator A. Willis Robertson Makes Address On Jackson At State Convention Of U. D. C.

AN ADDRESS DELIVERED BY A. WILLIS ROBERTSON
At the Annual Meeting of the Virginia Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, Richmond, Virginia,
October 3, 1961

One hundred years ago statesmanship failed, and the fear expressed by Daniel Webster of a glorious Union, torn by civil strife and drenched in fraternal blood, became a reality.

It was a war that could and should have been prevented; but the economic strife which the South met that challenge will always be a cherished tradition. The bitter conflict of 1861-65, the resulting hardships and injustices, produced noble men and women whose memory will be kept green by the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

No character of that great struggle stands out with more clearness or with greater lustre than that of General Stonewall Jackson. No student of the War Between the States can fail to recognize that after his Valley Campaign in the Spring and Summer of 1862 Jackson was the most conspicuous figure in either the Northern or Southern Army, and every important battlefield in the Eastern theater of operations, from the time Jackson was appointed Colonel of Virginia Volunteers and placed in command at Harpers Ferry until the tragic night on the Plank Road at Chancellorsville, is a tribute to his military genius.

Just two months after the wonderful victory at Chancellorsville, Lee's forces engaged the Federal troops at Gettysburg. His men fought with the same high courage and for two days four Federal army corps were defeated in succession, but ere the sun set on the third day had to admit defeat. Jackson's loss could not be replaced. Lee had said after Chancellorsville: "Tell Jackson he has lost his left arm but I have lost my right." If only Jackson had been with Lee at Gettysburg, swiftly executing his daring manoeuvers, Lee might have been saved his first major defeat, The feeling of the South over the loss of Jackson was aptly expressed in a prayer by one of his men at a Reunion in New Orleans: "Oh God, in Thy inscrutable Providence it was deemed best for the Confederate Cause to fall Thy became necessary that Thou should remove Thy faithful servant Jackson."

It has been my high privilege to know in Lexington citizens of that town who knew Jackson as a college professor and Sunday School teacher, but they did not at the time recognize in him a military genius whose strategy was to influence the profession of arms in all civilized countries. In the quiet and reserved professor of Military Tactics at the Virginia Military Institute who could measure the intensity with which the soul of Jackson would burn in battle!

In the humble and devout Presbyterian Elder, who could read that irrefragable resistance upon the field of battle! Even his own soldiers at first misunderstood him. They thought him harsh—even cruel but as they grew to know him better they recognized the wisdom of his severity; they learned to see in his grave and determined face a firmness that was allied to tenderness. No one, unless it be Napoleon, excelled Jackson in maintaining a discipline worthy of the best in the Anglo- Saxon nature, which had honor for its principle and glory for its reward. From him, his soldiers and the people of his Southland learned the self-denial, which is the root of all religion, the self-control which is the root of all manliness. It was this discipline which enabled the First Brigade to turn the tide of battle at Bull Run, or First Manassas.McDowell's men were carrying all before them and by an impetuous rush had threatened Henry Hill which was a commanding point in the very center of the Confederate lines and the key of the battle ground. Bee, Bartow, Evans and Hampton were driven in and Jackson alone stood fast. General Bee, with his hat off, his sword in hand, covered with sweat and dust and his horse foaming, dashed up to Jackson and said: "General, they are beating us back." "Then, Sir," said Jackson, as his thin lips closed like a vise, "We will give them the bayonet." Bee, inspired by Jackson's confidence galloped back to his broken lines and shouted: "Look, there is Jackson, standing like a stonewall. Rally behind the Virginians!" Bee did not survive that battle, but his battle cry will survive as long as love makes memory eternal. Jackson, absolutely without fear, rode up and down his line and his apparent unconcern had a marvelous effect upon his untried troops. "Appealing from his native sod, in forma pauperis to God: Lay bare Thine arm - stretch forth Thy rod. Amen. That's Stonewall's way." He ordered his men: "Reserve your fire until they come within 50 yards, then fire and give them the bayonet; and when you charge, yell like furies." Richt well did the hot Virginia blood respond and right well did God stretch forth his rod. Suddenly, sweeping down Henry Hill, a long gray line sprang from the ground; a rolling volley threw the Federals in confusion and victory, long wavering, crowned the banners of the South as those gallant Virginians drove home the attack with the cold steel.

In this battle we find illustrated one of Jackson's strategic characteristics, namely strategical penetration; that is the separation of the hostile army into two wings, creating strategic interior lines for the assailant. Jackson developed this strategic principle to a high degree in his Valley Campaign and by concentrating superior force at decisive point upon the field of battle he often succeeded in breaking through his opponent's lines, holding one wing while he crushed the other. Thus at Manassas, having broken the center, Jackson held the Federal left wing while Beauregard crushed the right by way of Matthews Hill,

Time will not permit us to trace the movements of Jackson from the First Battle of Bull Run to the Spring of 1862, when President Davis of the Confederacy assigned to him the difficult and dangerous task of preventing McDowell from uniting with McClellan and an attack upon Richmond. Suffice it to say that on April 28, 1862, Jackson assumed the offensive in the Valley and began a series of movements that completely changed the Federal plans in Virginia, on the Peninsula as well as in the Valley. The Federals in their Northern Virginia army had 20,000 men under Banks near Harrisonburg. Schenck and Milroy, of Fremont's Corps, had 6,000 fronting Jackson East of the mountains; Fremont, with 10,000 more, was marching to join them; and McDowell, with 40,000,was at Fredericksburg.

Against this force of 76,000 men Jackson proceeded to manoeuver in the valley with about 10,000, and at no time with more than 17,000 men. Jackson hit Schenck and Milroy at McDowell and drove them into the mountains of West Virginia, where they later united with Fremont at Franklin, West Virginia. By forced marches, Jackson moved from McDowell in Highland County to Front Royal in Warren County-a distance of more than 150 miles -and on May 23, 1862 destroyed Col. Kenly's force in the Battle of Front Royal. As a military engagement, the Battle of Front Royal was a minor one, but the psychological effect of the victory was tremendous and temporarily changed the entire course of the war. Col. Kenly's defeat terrified Banks, who was then near Strasburg. With his 20,000 men he retreated in great confusion to Winchester, where he stopped just long enough (on May 25th)) to save the major portion of his baggage trains, and then he and his Army fled for the Potomac. "Never," said General Banks — not a very soldierly confession but an honest one — "were there more grateful hearts in the same number of men than when at midday on the 26th we stood on the opposite shore of the Potomac."

Thus, Jackson's victory at Front Royal, occasioned Banks' retreat struck terror in the hearts of the politicians at Washington and caused them to order McDowell to fall back from Fredericksburg to protect Washington from Jackson. That kept McDowell's 40,000 men, front uniting with McClellan and, in turn, forced McClellan to give up his attack upon Richmond. Had Jackson been defeated in his Valley Campaign, Richmond would probably have fallen in the Summer of 1862 and the course of the war would have been changed.

When the Federal General Staff ascertained that Jackson was operating with less than 17,000 men, a Union force of 56,000 men was assembled and sent into the Shenandoah Valley with positive instructions to crush and annihilate Jackson. It seemed to the "swivel chair" directors of this program that it would be a physical impossibility for Jackson to escape, but they did not know the skill with which he would employ two fundamental maneuvers, one the utilization of strategic interior lines and the other strategical turning movement. We find the strategic interior lines employed to great advantage in the brilliant action of Port Republic and Cross Keys. Fremont and Shields, each with superior forces, were coming by different routes down the Valley with the purpose of uniting and crushing Jackson by overwhelming numbers.

But Jackson was not to be caught in any such trap. In 38 days he had marched 400 miles, sometimes averaging 25 miles a day. One of his men said they always marched "on dew unless they started the night before: and an Irishman in the Stonewall Brigade said that the pole in the Valley campaign was "one mule a week and three cusses a day." His men carried only rifles, blankets, haversacks and ammunition. Jackson believing in the adage that "The road to Glory cannot be followed with much baggage." By this rapidity of movement utilizing his shorter interior lines, Jackson was able to crush Fremont at Port Republic and then turn and whip Shields and Tyler at Cross Keys. When Trimble's Brigade hit Tyler at Cross Keys, 20 percent of his Brigade went into action barefoot. These were the men who had been marching 25 miles a day, on short rations and poorly clothed, but Oh, how they could fight! Fremont outnumbered them by 7,000 and yet after the battle of Port Republic Fremont's men said it was only murder to fight without reinforcements. I can see those same lean, hard, ragged soldiers, making their forced marches to join Lee in the Peninsula; I can see them arriving upon the field of Gaines Mill where my Grandfather fell wounded in the bloody battle that seemed lost to the Confederates and as the hardened veterans of the old Stonewall Brigade swung into action. I can hear the glad shout that spread through the wavering Confederate ranks: "The Valley men are here." Oh, what it meant to a hard-pressed line for the Valley men to come!

We have noted briefly two phases of Jackson's strategy, but his most distinctive strategy was the wide turning movement, brilliantly exhibited at the Battle of Chancellorsville, when, with Anderson holding the front, Jackson fell upon the flank of Howard's 11th Corps, almost annihilating it and throwing all of Hooker's troops into terrible confusion. Jackson was such a master of the flank attack that a legend sprang up in his army to the effect that Stonewall died and two angels came from Heaven to take him back with them. They went to his tent but he was not there: to the hospital but he was not there; to the outposts but he was not there. So they had to return without him. But when they reported that he had disappeared they found that he had made a flank march and reached Heaven before them.

In General Allenby's campaign in Palestine in World War I, we find a striking example of Jackson's strategy, the open country permitting the free employment of cavalry.

Allenby had been a student at the English Staff College where Henderson's Life of Jackson was used as a textbook. He knew Jackson's campaigns and his brilliant strategy. You will recall that when Pope was on the Rappannock, Lee could not force his left, so Jackson went to Front Royal, there crossing by different routes down the Valley with the purpose of uniting and crushing Jackson by overwhelming numbers.

But Jackson was not to be caught in any such trap. In 38 days he had marched 400 miles, sometimes averaging 25 miles a day. One of his men said they always marched "on dew unless they started the night before: and an Irishman in the Stonewall Brigade said that the pole in the Valley campaign was "one mule a week and three cusses a day." His men carried only rifles, blankets, haversacks and ammunition. Jackson believing in the adage that "The road to Glory cannot be followed with much baggage." By this rapidity of movement utilizing his shorter interior lines, Jackson was able to crush Fremont at Port Republic and then turn and whip Shields and Tyler at Cross Keys. When Trimble's Brigade hit Tyler at Cross Keys, 20 percent of his Brigade went into action barefoot. These were the men who had been marching 25 miles a day, on short rations and poorly clothed, but Oh, how they could fight! Fremont outnumbered them by 7,000 and yet after the battle of Port Republic Fremont's men said it was only murder to fight without reinforcements. I can see those same lean, hard, ragged soldiers, making their forced marches to join Lee in the Peninsula; I can see them arriving upon the field of Gaines Mill where my Grandfather fell wounded in the bloody battle that seemed lost to the Confederates and as the hardened veterans of the old Stonewall Brigade swung into action. I can hear the glad shout that spread through the wavering Confederate ranks: "The Valley men are here." Oh, what it meant to a hard-pressed line for the Valley men to come!

We have noted briefly two phases of Jackson's strategy, but his most distinctive strategy was the wide turning movement, brilliantly exhibited at the Battle of Chancellorsville, when, with Anderson holding the front, Jackson fell upon the flank of Howard's 11th Corps, almost annihilating it and throwing all of Hooker's troops into terrible confusion. Jackson was such a master of the flank attack that a legend sprang up in his army to the effect that Stonewall died and two angels came from Heaven to take him back with them. They went to his tent but he was not there: to the hospital but he was not there; to the outposts but he was not there. So they had to return without him. But when they reported that he had disappeared they found that he had made a flank march and reached Heaven before them.

In General Allenby's campaign in Palestine in World War I, we find a striking example of Jackson's strategy, the open country permitting the free employment of cavalry.

Allenby had been a student at the English Staff College where Henderson's Life of Jackson was used as a textbook. He knew Jackson's campaigns and his brilliant strategy. You will recall that when Pope was on the Rappannock, Lee could not force his left, so Jackson went to Front Royal, there crossing by different routes down the Valley with the purpose of uniting and crushing Jackson by overwhelming numbers.

But Jackson was not to be caught in any such trap. In 38 days he had marched 400 miles, sometimes averaging 25 miles a day. One of his men said they always marched "on dew unless they started the night before: and an Irishman in the Stonewall Brigade said that the pole in the Valley campaign was "one mule a week and three cusses a day." His men carried only rifles, blankets, haversacks and ammunition. Jackson believing in the adage that "The road to Glory cannot be followed with much baggage." By this rapidity of movement utilizing his shorter interior lines, Jackson was able to crush Fremont at Port Republic and then turn and whip Shields and Tyler at Cross Keys. When Trimble's Brigade hit Tyler at Cross Keys, 20 percent of his Brigade went into action barefoot. These were the men who had been marching 25 miles a day, on short rations and poorly clothed, but Oh, how they could fight! Fremont outnumbered them by 7,000 and yet after the battle of Port Republic Fremont's men said it was only murder to fight without reinforcements. I can see those same lean, hard, ragged soldiers, making their forced marches to join Lee in the Peninsula; I can see them arriving upon the field of Gaines Mill where my Grandfather fell wounded in the bloody battle that seemed lost to the Confederates and as the hardened veterans of the old Stone-of cavalry on a 30 mile night march to turn the left flank. That was considered quite a feat but what was 30 miles to Jackson's troopers. Why, one of them said that it took Moses 40 years to lead the Children of Israel out of the Wilderness but if "Old Jack" had been there he would have double quicked them through in three days on half rations. And how our great Leader must have smiled when, looking down upon that battlefield from the parapets of Paradise he saw the Holy City, after 1300 years of Mohammedan domination, delivered once more into the hands of the True Believers through his strategy.

Not alone upon his strategy nor his brilliant victories upon the field of battle does the fame of Jackson rest nor was his influence confined to the profession of arms. Jackson the man was as great as Jackson the soldier and rarely has history produced a character who so combined firmness and resolution with tenderness and humility of Christian character, and whose military genius was untarnished by cruelty or ambition. "Careless of monument by the grave, he built it in the world a monument by which men might be taught to remember not where he died but where he lived."

We live today in a period when the heritage of constitutional liberty in which both North and South believed - although they were divided on how it should be preserved — is threatened anew by so called liberals, at home, who, unwittingly or not, would take us down the road to Socialism, and by Communists abroad who threaten to impose their will by force upon a free world.

For the preservation at home of those priceless principles of political and economic freedom that were born of the brain and purchased with the blood of our Founding Fathers, we have never had a greater need to be reminded of the example set us by Virginians such as Lee and Jackson.

If we, the present generation of Virginians, will join together in these troubled times in being true to those principles, there will undoubtedly be heard again the Bull Run battle cry: "Rally behind the Virginians!"